

Barometer of Opinions: Possible statements

- In a soccer stadium a fan attacks another fan verbally by calling him a “girlie” because he cheers for the losing team.
- On a Facebook page some students post diet proposals on the pin wall of a very bulky built colleague.
- Pedestrians stay silent while a young gay couple is verbally attacked by an older couple in the street. Is the non-action of the by-standing pedestrians discriminatory?
- Roma children need special education, meaning special programmes and curricula.
- Boys are mad about the schools directive prohibiting head gear they find attractive, like baseball caps, while religious head gear for girls is tolerated. Is this directive discriminatory?
- A school’s head master prohibits the use of any other language than the dominant language of the country within the whole school ground.
